New gymnasium officially opened for Zion Chapel School

Zion Chapel School celebrated a special occasion Monday evening, Dec. 20, as the school's newly constructed gymnasium was officially opened with a ribbon cutting ceremony.

Coffee County Schools Superintendent Kelly Cobb called it a "great night in Jack, Alabama." She also thanked all those who came out to show support for the school during this occasion.

"This was an exciting event as well as long overdue for the school, district, and community," Cobb said.

Special guest speakers for the ceremony were Donnie Marler, Harry Driggers, and Brian McLeod.

Marler is a 1964 graduate of Zion Chapel School. He was a member of the B-Team and Varsity Basketball Team while a student. Also, he was a member of the school's first football team in 1962.

Driggers was a 1965 graduate of Zion Chapel. He was a member of the school's football, track, basketball, and baseball teams. He too was a member of the first football team in 1962.

McLeod graduated from Zion Chapel in 1987. He was a member of the 1985-86 Region Championship team, which made the Elite 8 that year. This season marks the 35th anniversary of that region championship.

McLeod also currently serves on the Coffee County Schools Board of Education, serving as the District One member. He is the board's president.

On the night of the ribbon cutting, McLeod, along with Courtney Jinright, a former Lady Rebel and Lady Rebel Coach, had the honor of scoring the "first goal" in the new facility.

"I thank Coffee County Superintendent of Education Kelly Cobb, Zion Chapel Principal Matt Barton, and the administration of Zion Chapel High School for inviting Harry Driggers and me to speak at the ribbon cutting for the opening of the new gym and then the honor of cutting the ribbon," Marler said in a Facebook post following the event. "It sure made two old former Rebels feel grateful and honored. May God bless you all."

The Zion Chapel Rebels christened the new gymnasium the following night, Dec. 21, with a clean sweep for the first basketball games played in the new facility against county foe New Brockton.

ZION CHAPEL CELEBRATES NEW GYMNASIUM...The Zion Chapel community celebrated the opening of its new school gymnasium Monday night, Dec. 20, with a ribbon cutting ceremony. There was a large crowd in attendance for this special ceremony and to tour the new state-of-the-art facility. School officials were joined by board members, current basketball players, local queens and more for the official ribbon cutting (above). Enjoying the honor of cutting the ribbon were two former Rebels [graduates from the 1960s], Harry Driggers and Donnie Marler.

Elba City Council hears first report from new police chief

In an Elba City Council meeting held Tuesday evening, Dec. 14, new Police Chief Troy Staley said everything had been going smoothly in his first week on the job, and he said he had been doing a lot of networking and getting things where they need to be for the police department.

Chief Staley arrived late to the meeting as he was on scene of a motor vehicle accident when the council meeting began, but he arrived just as city clerk Sally Bane was provided some info to council members regarding the department. The city clerk also had noted the police chief's progress in meeting with other agencies trying to rebuild working relationships.

Also, the city clerk said city hall officials and the chief had been working together to make sure the department has the appropriate equipment needed for officers to do their job appropriately.

Elba Police Chief Troy Staley addresses the Elba City Council during its Tuesday, Dec. 14, meeting. The chief said he had been doing a lot of networking since coming on board as the new department leader.

Council members asked if an administrative assistant to the police chief job opportunity being advertised for employment was a newly created position or would that be a replacement for another position. Both Bane and Chief Staley said it would be a newly created position for the department.

Chief Staley said funding for that position would come from the already approved salary budget for the police department. Bane concurred saying some dollars were being moved around within the salary budget to make room for this position to be created.

Chief Staley said he wanted to give about three weeks for applicants to apply for the job before he began reviewing applications and starting the interview process.

Also, upon inquiry of council members, Chief Staley said he had three officers set to begin with the department the week of Dec. 27th. He said that would get the department up to eight officers with additional prospects still coming.

In her report to the council, the city clerk noted that Elba Parks and Recreation director Greg Hanchey had attended a workshop for baseball recently where the director of the baseball league complimented Elba on its Hawkins-Williams facilities with all the improvements that have been made there. The league has asked Elba to host two separate age divisions district tournaments this upcoming baseball season at Hawkins-Williams.

Elba hosted one age division tournament last year, and reportedly league leaders were impressed with how smoothly things went. That and the great conditions of the Hawkins-Williams facilities led to Elba being asked to host two age divisions this upcoming season when it is time for the district tournaments.

"That will be a great weekend for Elba," Bane said.

Youth basketball season for Elba Parks and Recreation is set to begin after the holidays in January.

Bane said the city had received funding from FEMA for the buyout of

Zion Chapel bass anglers win recent tournament

The Zion Chapel Bass Team members fished their first tournament of the season Dec. 11th and 12th on the East Alabama High School Bass Trail.

This tournament was on Lake Jordan, which is the southernmost impoundment on the Coosa River and dates to 1928 and spreads across 6,800 acres near Wetumpka, Ala. The Coosa River leads to outstanding bass action.

Beginning in Rome, Ga., the Coosa River flows 280 miles to the southwest with more than 90 percent of it in Alabama. South of Wetumpka it merges with the Tallapoosa River to create the Alabama River. Along the way, it flows through some of the best bass waters in the country.

A total of 76 teams fished the Dec. 11-12th tournament. Due to the weather, the teams could choose to fish either Saturday before the front moved through, or Sunday following the front and drop in temperatures.

Zion Chapel's Team Avery Padgett/Ethan Young chose to fish on Saturday and won the tournament with a limit of five fish weighing 10.85 pounds. They also came in second place with their big fish weighing 3.69 pounds. They missed the big fish award by three ounces.

The big fish winners were fellow teammates Zion Chapel Team Cole

After many years of vacancy, the Elba City Council is interested in renovating the old dime store building [shown here] on the square in Elba to locate the Elba Chamber of Commerce office. The chamber has been without a permanent home since a fire destroyed its office earlier this year. The old dime store building is owned now by the Elba Redevelopment Authority (ERA), and the city plans to ask the ERA to consider transferring ownership to it to make way for renovations to the building for the Chamber office.

Elba City Council discusses "old dime store" building for possible Elba Chamber of Commerce new location

The Elba City Council held its second meeting for December following the first meeting held Tuesday night, Dec. 14, and the future location of the Elba Chamber of Commerce office was the topic for this second meeting.

Recently, it had been discussed that the Moseley Studio building on Factory Avenue might be a potential location for the Chamber office. The office is temporarily located in an office in that building currently due to a fire that destroyed the former Putnam Street location earlier this year.

During that previous discussion, the city council asked for an appraisal on that building before it would be considered for purchase with insurance monies. However, during the Dec. 14th meeting, Mayor Tom Maddox said the building that was being discussed [the did not specifically identify this as being the Moseley Studio building, but it was the building discussed at a previous workshop and meeting] was now off the market due to being sold to another buyer.

The mayor then recommended the council move to its next option for relocation of the Chamber office, that being the old dime store building located on the square and currently owned by the Elba Redevelopment Authority [ERA]. The mayor said other than that, the option would be to continue looking for another location for the Chamber.

"My thinking is that would be a great way to get that building [dime store building] presentable," Maddox said.

He said if a retail business were to ever want to purchase the building in the future, it could be addressed at that time, but the building

"Posterity, you will never know how much it cost the present generation to preserve your freedom. I hope you will make good use of it. If you do not, I shall repent in heaven that ever I took half the pains to preserve it." - John Adams

Well, ole COVID disrupted our family gathering during the Christmas holidays. Daughter-in-law came down with the bug AGAIN! Karen and Eric were among the first to be knocked down with the virus, but managed to stay out of the hospitals. Now after surviving, plus the shots, etc., she was struck again. This time it is still milder, but not pain free. Anyway, wanting a family gathering to include the whole family if possible, we postponed until after everyone is COVID free like mid to late January.

We got our booster shot last week. It seemed harder to find a place to get the booster brand we wanted than it was getting the first round of the vaccine, but we were determined and thus successful. Trying to sign up with the big drug chains was a total failure (maybe because we kept clicking the wrong box). Each time we selected the shot we wanted the computer changed it. After a dozen times of starting over, we threw up our hands and made a phone call to a drug store that is NOT one of the chains, and presto, problem solved. We drove down, walked in, and pop the shot was in our arm. This time around we experienced a wee bit of arm swelling and soreness, but it was gone in a couple of days. That was a relief, since there are stories floating around about extreme negative reactions to the booster shots, even among folks who had no problems the first time around.

Now someone needs to explain to us the reaction of the Donald Trump fans at a Texas rally last week when he announced he had gotten the booster shot and they booed! It had been our opinion that many of these folks were not getting the shots as some sort of sign of support and/or loyalty for the former president. Apparently it is more complicated than that. If it is some sort of independence/pride, etc., issue they lose us. It is our opinion that remaining alive and well is far more important than maintaining someone's vanity or making political statements.

Earlier this year we lost a cousin to COVID. She was a typical stereo-type very reserved school librarian before her retirement. We lay that groundwork to talk about her brother. He is/was also a very quiet and reserved person. They got it from their dad (not their mother!). Well last week he announced he had taken delivery on a brand new bright red Corvette! He must have decided sister's almost hermit lifestyle was not worth it and he is planning to live what is left of his life during his retirement years in the fast lane. He talks about the fast speed of this sports car and we hope our next reports on him and the Corvette are not of them scraping the car and his body off the bark of some big oak tree or fishing them out of a creek.

Be safe, wear your mask, social distance, wash your hands AND get the shot(s) and/or booster!

Well... Cuzin Lou Lou now knows where she stands when it comes to her and Little Bean with Sister and Papa!

Sunday morning, Little Bean had gotten ahold of an empty water bottle and was playing with it. It amazes Lou Lou in that she can buy the best toys for Little Bean, but she would rather play with an empty water bottle every time.

So, some paper from the outside of the bottle got stuck to Bean's fur just below her mouth, and Lou Lou was trying to help the little one out by pulling the paper from her face. Little did Lou Lou realize that Bean was apparently in a "mood" that morning.

On an attempt to grab the paper, Bean nipped at Lou Lou. That is a normal "play" thing between the two, but on this occasion, Bean caught Lou Lou's finger in her mouth and chomped down!

I am sure the imaginations are running wild now regarding Lou Lou's reaction. Well...if you guessed that she immediately began yelling, hollering from the sheer pain - you would be correct!

Honestly, Lou Lou thinks it scared Little Bean as much as it hurt Lou Lou when the incident happened, but Lou Lou was in PAIN! Once Bean let go, she was rolling in pain holding her now bleeding finger. There may have even been some tears [don't judge until you've had K9 teeth chomp into your skin].

Sister and Papa came to check on Lou Lou, and of course, Sister tells Bean, "It's okay...your mama is just dramatic."

Excuse me! Lou Lou was not being dramatic! She was hurting and bleeding!!

As the "doctoring" on Lou Lou's finger began both Sister and Papa had the nerve to say to her, "She didn't mean to hurt you. I think her tooth just got hung."

OKAY...well, that didn't change the fact that it hurt and was b-l-e-e-d-i-n-g!!

One thing is for certain. Little Bean has a big defense corner when it comes to Sister and Papa. Even throughout the day, they continued to speak lovingly to Bean assuring her it was okay and Lou Lou was going to be just fine.

Meanwhile, Lou Lou was sitting by watching and wondering where her consoling had gone. All she got out of the two was, "Quit being so dramatic. That baby didn't mean it."

Nevermind that Lou Lou was only trying to be helpful to the little demon when she decided to confuse Lou Lou's finger for one of her chew bones!

Lou Lou did make up with Bean before the day was over, and Bean did seem to be upset after realizing she had indeed injured Lou Lou. She moped around most of the day on Sunday and seemed skittish to get near Lou Lou [until bedtime anyway]. All has been forgotten now [almost anyway], and the two are inseparable again, cuddling and playing as if the incident never happened. Lou Lou's finger does still require some 'doctoring' to make sure it heals well.

And, she is a bit more careful now when getting her fingers anywhere near those sharp K9 teeth. Oh yeah, and miss 'don't be so dramatic' Sister seems to be paying closer attention to those teeth too... Lou Lou's guess is that her 'drama' became a lesson for Sister as well, even though she would never admit it!

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling! See you next year!!

PORTION OF SIMMONS STREET CLOSED AGAIN...The portion of Simmons Street that was closed for many months due to culvert replacement work has been closed again recently (shown above). Erosion issues (shown at right) at the recent work site forced officials to close the road again for safety reasons. During the Dec. 14th Elba City Council meeting, city clerk Sally Bane said the project contractor and engineers had been working together to come up with a solution to this erosion issue. She said this portion of the road would remain closed until a fix is implemented. Bane said officials would stay on top of the matter until it was completed properly.

During the meeting, council members approved a truck route ordinance for downtown Elba streets. This ordinance will go into effect after the city receives receipt of roads being transferred to it from the state and publication of the ordinance once in the newspaper.

New Year's Resolutions & Grief

It's now time for reflecting on the past year and how to improve your wellness, health and life in the upcoming one. But for those who have lost someone: resolution season can be a difficult time of making promises that are hard to keep. Here are a few tips for helping you or those you know and love get through resolution season.

Make Tangible Goals. It's easy to say "I want to lose weight." or "I want to make more money." but those are somewhat abstract goals. How do you plan to lose weight? How are you going to make more money? Attach concrete tasks to each goal. You can pledge to improve work output and earn a bonus or promotion. You can vow to cut down on sweets or fried foods and plan to work out more to lose weight. And for those that are grieving, the goals may be more rooted in emotion. "I want to cope better with loss." or "I want to honor those I have lost." Those also can be turned into tangible goals. Scheduling those crucial first appointments with grief counselors or therapists can help aid some of the grief of loss.

Getting Creative. Honoring those that have been lost is a deeply personal task. Each person is different and each person's legacy is different. Some would love to be honored by a special memorial garden while others would want their loved ones to go on one more spectacular trip. Other ways of honoring those lost would be to vow to visit the places where your loved ones are laid to rest more often. You could also try new expressive ways to cope and grieve through artistic expression like poetry or painting.

Be Honest With Yourself. Change of any kind is difficult. Change while still processing the grief of a lost loved one is even more difficult. Be honest with your emotions and your grief. If you stumble along the way, know that you can always get back up. If you miss a day working out or aren't able to visit the cemetery as often as you'd like, accept it as a temporary stumbling point and move on vowing to do better next time.

This resolution season, be kind to yourself. Accept that each step is a step forward and that grief comes in many forms. Use this resolution season to try new things or rediscover some old hobbies you love and shared with those who have passed. Take each day as an opportunity to honor the legacy of your loved ones.

An Open Letter To Our Community

"To Elba with Love"

Hello Friends!

At last . . . a church for those who have given up on church—a church for the rest of us:

- ❑ Non-denominational and Christ-centered. Or as I like to say, "Jesus. Pure and Simple." Just Christians, no particular brand.
- ❑ A faith community where everyone is welcome, regardless of race, background, status, or baggage. A place of grace.
- ❑ A place where all sinners are loved and real life-change happens.

But, let's face it, many people in Elba and surrounding areas aren't active in any church these days. Why? Many reasons, I'm sure.

The number one reason I hear is this:

"Christians aren't friendly and welcoming to visitors!"

I know this complaint is real . . . I've experienced it myself. That's why I would be at Covenant Community Church, even if I weren't the Pastor. We are dedicated to being a church where people like you and me can find what is often missing from church.

- ❑ A genuine welcome and acceptance as a person.
- ❑ Relationships that are real.
- ❑ A family that will care for you.
- ❑ A new sense of hope for your life.
- ❑ Simple heartfelt worship and opportunities to give back in service to others.

So come some Sunday for a visit and see if Covenant Community Church isn't just the kind of church you've been looking for. Skeptical? I get it. But what do you have to lose by coming for a visit?

If you don't have a church home, give us a try. I hope to meet you soon.

Your friend,
Paul Jackson, Pastor

Reflections

by Michael J. Brooks, Pastor

What Do We Do When Christians Mess Up?

Interestingly, three stories appeared in the same week about Christian leaders who messed up. One is a coach who behaved hypocritically. Another is a televangelist living in a $7 million mansion who pays no property tax. He said God told him to "Minister this house to [your wife]. It is part of your prosperity." And a third Christian leader faces a lawsuit. His accuser, terminated from the organization, claims blind allegiance to the leader is a stringent job requirement, and the leader spurned COVID-19 protocols in the workplace.

These kinds of "got 'cha" stories get good play in the press; often it's a way the media humbles the self-righteous, whether they be religious or political leaders.

But what should our reaction be when fellow believers stumble?

First, we must avoid gloating as a secular world might. The accusations are serious, of course, but it's also true that we're in the same family. We accept a new responsibility when we decide to follow Christ. We pledge to help our brothers and sisters in the faith, not to judge them. So we grieve.

Second, I think we must hold to the principle of accountability. There are consequences for inappropriate behavior. If one skirts the law, there are fines and other punishments. If one stumbles as a moral leader he or she may need to step aside for a season. So much of accountability depends on the offender's attitude. Contrition goes a long way; obduracy complicates matters.

But another task we must do is to restore the fallen. The apostle Paul said, "Dear brothers and sisters, if another believer is overcome by some sin, you who are godly should gently and humbly help that person back onto the right path. And be careful not to fall into the same temptation yourself" (Galatians 6:1, NLT).

Restoration is a Christian alternative to gloating or shaming. Restoration doesn't overlook an offense but finds a way around it. Restoration says to the offender, "You're too valuable to cast aside. We'll work with you to make you stronger, and then you'll be able to help others who stumble."

Henri Nouwen popularized the term, "wounded healer." He said Christ "was wounded for our transgressions," as Isaiah prophesied so long ago, and became our healer. Nouwen further argued that Christians who suffer, whether by loss, disease or bad choices, can be fitted for better and more effective service to others.

Dr. Charles Chandler founded "Ministering to Ministers" to encourage ministers who've experienced involuntary terminations. One feature of MTM's retreats is the stories of those who've been through terminations sharing how they coped. Chandler often tells retreat participants, "Don't waste your pain. Use it to grow stronger and to help others."

CDC recommends shorter COVID-19 isolation and quarantine time period

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) announced it has shortened the recommended isolation and quarantine period for people with COVID-19 to five days, if asymptomatic and if persons can wear a mask when around others.

These updates are recommended as the Omicron variant continues to spread throughout the U.S. and reflect the current science on when and for how long a person is most infectious. Emerging information with the Omicron variant demonstrates that the majority of SARS-CoV-2 transmissions occur early in the course of illness, generally in the one to two days prior to the onset of COVID-19 symptoms and the two to three days afterward.

The new CDC recommendations for the general population mean that asymptomatic people who test positive may leave isolation five days after testing if they can continue to consistently and correctly mask for five more days to minimize the risk of infecting others. Infected persons who cannot follow mask guidance after five days, for example, young children, need to remain in isolation for 10 days after testing positive.

In addition, CDC is updating the recommended quarantine period for those exposed to COVID-19. For people who are unvaccinated or if they are more than six months past their second dose of mRNA vaccine (Pfizer or Moderna) or more than two months after their Johnson and Johnson vaccine and not yet boosted, CDC now recommends quarantine for five days followed by strict mask use for an additional five days. If a five-day quarantine for vaccinated, not yet boosted, persons is not feasible, it is imperative that an exposed person wear a well-fitting mask at all times when around others for 10 days after exposure.

Individuals who have received their booster shot do not need to quarantine following an exposure, but they should wear a mask for 10 days after the exposure.

For all those exposed, CDC states that best practice would also include a test for SARS-CoV-2 at the fifth day after exposure. If symptoms occur, individuals should immediately quarantine until a negative test confirms their symptoms are not attributable to COVID-19. In the past week, the percent positivity in COVID-19 tests in Alabama has more than doubled to 22.1 percent with new cases doubling, and all but six counties in high level of community transmission. ADPH urges all age-eligible Alabamians to continue to follow recommendations to be vaccinated and those 16 years of age and above to be boosted to reduce severe disease, hospitalization and death.

Vaccination remains the best way to protect and to reduce the impact of COVID-19 on communities in light of recent studies showing that the previously widely available monoclonal antibody treatments are not effective against the Omicron variant. Visit www.alabamapublichealth.gov for more information on COVID-19.

Don't Stop Believing

For two years, my oldest boy struggled. A small legal problem became a two-year string of escalating trouble. His trouble stemmed from continuing to seek out the wrong crowd and flouting every rule the country set forth. My family prayed constantly, but the situation just kept deteriorating. He lied and stole. He became violent. He had to be placed in a shelter; he was admitted to the hospital for an overdose.

I cried out to the Lord for what seemed like the millionth time to deliver my son and my family from the constant chaos. Like the neighbor in need, I persisted, I prayed. I asked for strength when my despair threatened to overcome me. I didn't stop knocking until, in all His great mystery and love, God answered my prayer with a yes. My son began to improve and remains healthy to this day. As Jesus tells us, we must never stop knocking, and unlike that frustrated friend who grudgingly got up to answer the door, Jesus is never reluctant to answer our prayers. His time is perfect, and we err when we interpret a delayed answer with reluctance. — P.M.

Happy New Year Everyone!

Our grandson Lawson played Santa Claus on Christmas morning as he handed out the presents and even offered to open the gifts for anyone that needed help. He really enjoyed the special day and made it special for this 'ole Granddaddy.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers closed the pre-holiday portion of their basketball schedule mired in a six-game losing streak, and it will take a lot of personal pride and determination for the Tigers to turn things around if they have any hopes to compete for an area title. Elba had played hard in every game all season despite the mounting losses, but in its embarrassing loss to Brantley the Tigers simply went through the motions and played with very little emotion. It will take more than just X's and O's and hard practices to turn things around if the players don't rededicate themselves and play to win.

 The Elba Lady Tigers ran their winning streak to three games and paid Brantley back for a 12-point loss up in Brantley by knocking off the highly-touted Lady Bulldogs to close the pre-holiday slate with a big win. The Lady Tigers got a big night from A'Lyric Whitfield, but more important got big minutes from the other players on the roster and played hard for every minute of the game. The Elba girls were expected to struggle this season after losing four starters, but are beginning to come together and just may make another run at an area title before they take down the nets in a couple of months.

 The high school basketball season always takes a short break for the holidays, which gives me a chance to look back and see what we have found out about the teams in the area. Here we go * Zion Chapel – The Rebels are off to a solid 11-4 start and play hard on defense as they have allowed only one team to score over 55 points, while the Lady Rebels are off to a 3-9 start despite scoring thirty or more points only twice. * New Brockton – The Gamecocks have a 3-6 record at the break despite allowing only one opponent to score in the sixties, while the Lady Gamecocks are 0-9, but have two losses by seven points or less. * Kinston – The Bulldogs are 1-8 at the break, but have played only one 1A opponent and have just reached full strength, while the Lady Bulldogs are 3-4 with all three wins coming over cross-county rivals. * Brantley – The Bulldogs are off to a 4-2 start and have yet to take the court against a 1A opponent, while the Lady Bulldogs are also 4-2 and are much improved and appear to be a solid 1A squad.

 The Alabama Sports Writers Association announced its All-State high school football picks last week and while all the players that received honors were very deserving, I have to feel that the Elba Tigers had a couple of players that should have made the list. Chrystyle Caldwell made the list at linebacker and was obviously one of the top 2A players in the state, but in my opinion there was also room on the list for Peyton McCart, who turned in an outstanding season as a defensive back; Collin Sauls, a two-way starter that graded high all season no matter where he lined up; Alvin Henderson, the Tigers top running back that went over 1,000 yards and drew the attention of every school in the SEC; and, Kyle Smith, another two-way player in the line that was the anchor of the men in the trenches.

 HAPPY NEW YEAR!!

Win 3rd straight game

Lady Tigers are back on track

The Elba Lady Tigers gained a measure of revenge for a 12-point early season loss and upped their winning streak to three games at the same time last Monday night with an exciting 47-43 home court win over the Brantley Lady Bulldogs.

Elba came out ready to play on the rematch and behind the scoring punch of A'Lyric Whitfield and Tajah Purvis raced out to an early 17-7 lead. The Lady Tiger duo, sparked by a pair of three-pointers by Whitfield, combined for 12 first quarter points as Elba took charge early.

Brantley began to settle down in the second quarter and outscored Elba 18-7 to carry a 25-24 lead in at the half, while the two rivals swapped baskets in the third quarter as the Lady Tigers pulled even at 32-32 heading into the final stanza.

Elba falls flat in 73-32 home loss to Brantley

The Elba Tigers saw their victory drought reach six games last Monday night with a lopsided 73-32 home court loss to the Brantley Bulldogs.

Brantley came out on fire and when Morell Edwards drained a three-pointer from the corner the Bulldogs owned a quick 9-0 lead. Two free throws by JT Coleman and a driving layup by Elba's Chrystyle Caldwell cut the Brantley lead to 9-4 with 4:17 left in the first quarter, but Brantley's Robert Shine ignited a Bulldog rally and when Jayden Parks nailed a three-pointer the Bulldogs were on top 20-6.

Byron Burks and Caldwell scored early in the second quarter in an effort to keep Elba within striking distance. However, the Bulldogs never slowed down and closed the stanza on a 17-3 run to carry a 46-16 advantage in at the half.

Brantley's Jayden Parks hit back-to-back three-pointers to open the third quarter to push the lead to 52-16, and while Jordan Marek and JT Coleman hit baskets to stop the Bulldogs onslaught, the 'Dogs never lost command and opened up their biggest lead of the game at 63-21 on a three-pointer by Khaliq Smith with 1:02 still left in the quarter.

Elba, with the aid of Trent Hamilton, matched the Brantley reserves bucket-for-bucket in the fourth

The score changed hands on almost every basket for much of the fourth quarter and Brantley cut the Elba lead to 42-41 with 1:30 left on the clock on a put back by Kayden Dunn. However, the Lady Tigers A'Lyric Whitfield nailed a three-pointer from the top of the circle to stretch the lead to 45-41, and when Whitfield weaved her way through the Brantley defense for a lay-up after a turnover Elba was on top 47-41 and on its way to the exciting 47-43 win.

A'Lyric Whitfield poured in 22 points to lead Elba and Brooke Tinsley added 8, while Kalaiya Dixon scored 11 and Annah Parker Little added 10 for Brantley.

Elba (47): Tinsley 8, Williams 5, Whitfield 22, Purvis 6, Stinson 2, Juarez 4.

Brantley (43): Clayton 6, Dixon 11, Little 10, Barginere 9, Dunn 7.

Hunter safety important as season gets active

By DAVID RAINER
Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources

Heading into the most active time of Alabama's hunting seasons, Marisa Futral wants to make sure hunters don't take one thing for granted - hunter safety.

Futral, the Alabama Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries (WFF) Division Hunter Safety Coordinator, said January is the time when most people head to the woods to pursue deer, ducks and small game.

A safety strap should be attached to the tree to prevent you from falling more than 12 inches.

Always inspect the safety harness for signs of wear or damage before each use. Follow all manufacturers' instructions for use of a safety harness and stand.

Follow the three-point rule of treestand safety. Always have three points of contact to the steps or ladder before moving. This could be two arms and one leg holding and stepping on the ladder or one arm and two legs in contact with the ladder before moving. Be cautious that rain, frost, ice or snow can cause steps to become extremely slippery. Check the security of the step before placing your weight on it.

Always hunt with a plan and, if possible, a buddy. Before you leave home, let others know your exact hunting location, when you plan to return and who is with you.

Always carry emergency signal devices such as a cell phone, walkie-talkie, whistle, signal flare, PLD (personal locator device) and flashlight at all times and within reach even while you are suspended in your fall-arrest system. Watch for changing weather conditions. In the event of an incident, remain calm and seek help immediately.

Always select the proper tree for use with your treestand. Select a live, straight tree that fits within the size limits recommended in your treestand's instructions.

for the current season with two non-fatal firearms accidents (waterfowl and quail) and two non-fatal treestand accidents.

WFF Hunter Education stresses the following 11 guidelines for using a treestand safely:

Always wear a safety harness, also known as a fall-arrest system, when you are in a treestand, as well as when climbing into or out of a treestand. Statistics show that the majority of treestand incidents occur while climbing in and out of a stand.

A safety strap should be attached to the tree to prevent you from falling more than 12 inches.

Always inspect the safety harness for signs of wear or damage before each use.

Follow all manufacturers' instructions for use of a safety harness and stand.

Follow the three-point rule of treestand safety.

Always have three points of contact to the steps or ladder before moving. This could be two arms and one leg holding and stepping on the ladder or one arm and two legs in contact with the ladder before moving. Be cautious that rain, frost, ice or snow can cause steps to become extremely slippery. Check the security of the step before placing your weight on it.

Always hunt with a plan and, if possible, a buddy. Before you leave home, let others know your exact hunting location, when you plan to return and who is with you.

tions. Do not climb or place a treestand against a leaning tree.

Never leave a treestand installed for more than two weeks since damage could result from changing weather conditions and/or from other factors not obvious with a visual inspection.

Always use a haul line to pull up your gear and unloaded firearm or bow to your treestand once you have reached your desired hunting height. Never climb with anything in your hands or on your back. Prior to descending, lower your equipment on the opposite side of the tree.

Always know your physical limitations. Don't take chances. Do not climb when impaired by drugs, alcohol or if you're sick or unsteady. If you start thinking about how high you are, stop climbing.

"A lot of our treestand accidents happen in January," she said. "When it's colder, the steps on a ladder stand or shooting house are slick. There may be early morning frost on the steps. We urge people to make sure they have three points of contact when you're climbing steps, either two feet and a hand or two hands and a foot. If you do slip, you have a lot better chance to catch yourself."

Futral also urges hunters to review and adhere to the 10 commandments of firearms safety:

Treat every firearm as if it is loaded.

Control the muzzle of your firearm. Keep the barrel pointed in a safe direction. Never point a firearm at anything that you do not wish to shoot and insist that your shooting and hunting companions do the same.

Be sure of your target and beyond. Positively identify your target before you fire, and make sure no people, livestock, roads or buildings are beyond the target.

Never shoot at water or a hard, flat surface. A ricocheting bullet cannot be controlled.

Don't use a scope for target identification; use binoculars.

Never climb a tree, cross a fence or jump a ditch with a loaded firearm.

Store guns and ammunition separately. Store firearms under lock and key and use a gun case to transport firearms.

Make sure your barrel and action are clear of all obstructions.

Unload firearms when not in use. Never take someone else's word that a firearm is unloaded. Check yourself.

Avoid drugs and alcohol when hunting or shooting. Even some over-the-counter medicines can cause impairment.

Tournament scheduled for February 27, 2022, at Lake Martin.

Following their exciting win at Lake Jordan, the ZCBT anglers decorated a parade entry for the annual Elba Christmas Parade sponsored by the Elba Chamber of Commerce. They rode their entry in the parade Monday, Dec. 13, and many children were recipients of their generosity when they threw out pounds of candy.

December has really been a busy month for the ZCBT anglers. A fundraiser tournament for their benefit was organized by Mike McDaniel. The tournament was held Saturday, Dec. 4, at Lake Jordan. 19 boats participated.

This event generated $760 for the ZCBT for which they are thankful. Congrats go to Travis Day, the big winner, with 13.92 pounds; he carried home the big prize of $660; Lance Kirkland, weighed in 12.06 pounds for the second place prize of $290; and Jeffrey Reeves/Dawson weighed in 11.67 pounds and received $190 prize money.

The ZCBT anglers will fish again January 29, 2022, at Lake Martin on the Alabama BASS Nation High School Tiger Trail.

Zion Chapel anglers, Team Cole McDaniel and Kevin Dowdy, won the big fish award in the tournament. The 'big fish' weighed in at 3.72 pounds. This team placed 8th overall in the tournament.

ADPH: first antiviral pill to treat COVID coming to Alabama

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has granted Emergency Use Authorization to Pfizer for its oral antiviral drug Paxlovid to treat COVID-19.

Data indicates it is 88 percent effective in reducing the proportion of people with COVID-19-related hospitalization or death. Paxlovid is in tablet form and the initial limited supply of 780 patient courses will be available by prescription only by the first week of January.

Alabama will initially use pharmacies to dispense the oral antiviral drug, and will add other providers as allocation allows.

State Health Officer Dr. Scott Harris said, "As new variants continue to emerge, we are excited that the oral tablet Paxlovid will soon be available to help combat COVID-19 in non-hospitalized patients. While we are very pleased Paxlovid will be a treatment option, it is not a substitute for vaccinations which remain the best way for most people to protect themselves against severe illness and death due to COVID-19. I continue to urge all Alabamians to be vaccinated and receive a booster dose when eligible."

Paxlovid is authorized for the treatment of mild-to-moderate COVID-19 in adult and pediatric patients. Paxlovid should be initiated as soon as possible after diagnosis of COVID-19 and within five days of the onset of symptoms. Patients who are prescribed this treatment must have a positive SARS-CoV-2 test, be at high risk for progressing to severe COVID-19, and be age 12 years or older and weigh at least about 88 pounds.

It is administered as three tablets taken together twice daily for five days. Paxlovid is not authorized for use for longer than five consecutive days.

The supply of Paxlovid will be limited initially. According to the FDA, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response, will oversee its fair and equitable allocation to state and territorial health departments and select Health Resources & Services Administration (HRSA) - funded health clinics.

The federal government has purchased 10 million courses of Paxlovid, the FDA stated. Production will ramp up significantly in the coming months, and an initial 65,000 courses of Paxlovid will be made available.

The first allocations of Paxlovid were determined on a pro rata basis and will be provided to state and territorial health departments at no charge.
